We use Google Analytics to help us understand what you like about the VSC site, and what is most interesting and useful to you. This is important information, since the VSC site is for your use.

Neither VSC nor Google sees data which is attributable to you on a personal level. We may track and compile certain information called “aggregate data”. This is a process where the system sees site users (you or me) only by randomly assigned identifiers so that the system does not see or store our personal information. Generally, the information we look at is:

The browser used to get to the VSC site (Internet Explorer, Google, Firefox, etc.).
Type of computer used to get to the VSC site.
The pages viewed at the VSC site, and duration.
And more. Please see <http://www.google.com/analytics/terms/us.html>
